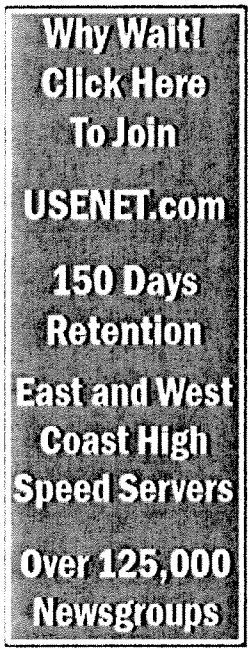
Today's hottest way of sharing MP3 files over the Internet is Usenet; forget about all the peer-to-peer software applications, which quickly become outdated. Usenet allows everyone around the world to share their files on a worldwide network of peer servers and make them available to any member of this worldwide network. MP3 Newsgroups are the ultimate way of sharing as they are well organized and allow the users to find what they are looking for quickly and effortlessly.

For example, the alt.binaries.mp3.1960s newsgroup is focused on sharing music from the sixties. If you want to share files in this mp3 newsgroup, you must become a Usenet subscriber at a Usenet provider like Usenet.com or Newsfeeds.com and gain access to thousands of specific mp3 newsgroups. Once you gain the access for a low monthly fee (look at this as an Internet access fee you are paying to your Internet Service Provider, only to a different part of the Internet), you will immediately be able to download whatever all other users across the world have already posted in the numerous mp3 newsgroups out there. This gives you access to millions of mp3 files and also enables you to post your own files the same way and share them with the whole world in an instance! No other sharing service on the Internet puts such power on your fingertips as Usenet! Go to www.usenet.com and explore this excellent opportunity.



Please Note:

Usenet.com does not control the newsgroups on Usenet. We do not create the newsgroup or newsgroups on Usenet. Each newsgroup that is created is the sole responsibility of the person who created it. We do not control what people post to usenet. Our servers are classified as a "transitory network." A newsgroup name in and of itself does not mean that what is posted to that group corresponds to the name of the newsgroup.

Where Can You Get Free Downloads These Days?

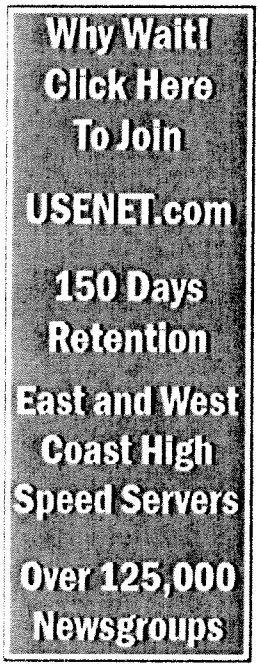
Well, we must admit that it is getting harder and harder to find anything free on the Internet these days. File sharing websites are getting shut down, spam is all over the net and free download options are getting thinner by the day. So what is the Internet user who loves to download stuff for free to do in this situation? There is one solution which has existed for a while but not everyone may be informed of just yet. This solution is called Usenet, also known as The Usenet Experience. It is an underground because it is not a website that anyone can randomly access by doing a search in Google, Yahoo, or AltaVista. It is somewhat hidden and restricted because not everyone has access to the free download areas, called newsgroup.

So How Do You Get to the Place with Free Downloads?

It is easier than you may think. The place which soon may be the only one that offers free downloads is available to everyone through a Usenet service provider company, such as Usenet.com. In order to start downloading all you want, you need to have Internet access (which you probably have already since you're reading this) and a Usenet account. Once you join Usenet.com, you can access the Usenet newsgroups and start downloading all you want without paying an additional cent. Tired of busy file sharing programs such as KaZaa? Then Usenet is the place for you. It's a place that has it all and where you can download it all. Usenet has a much wider selection than any of the other file sharing programs and it is available to you to use 24 x 7, no mater who's online or who isn't. The files are all hosted on the provider company's servers and it is available to all users to view and download.

What Exactly Can You Download in Usenet?

Anything and everything. Literally. There are movies, mp3s, cartoons, wallpapers, sounds, videos, pictures, warez, games, software and much more. The files (also known as "binaries" in Usenet) are organized by subject in the so called "newsgroups," which makes it really easy for everyone from the inexperienced user to the expert to find what they are looking for. You can search the newsgroups in Usenet by using keywords. All you need is a piece of software called a newsreader which Usenet.com offers to members for free and you are ready to start downloading. And you can download as much as you want if you get the right membership plan. Forget about the disadvantages of file sharing software. Meet Usenet, the new place for free downloads!



Please Note:

Usenet.com does not control the newsgroups on Usenet. We do not create the newsgroup or newsgroups on Usenet. Each newsgroup that is created is the sole responsibility of the person who created it. We do not control what people post to usenet. Our servers are classified as a "transitory network." A newsgroup name in and of itself does not mean that what is posted to that group corresponds to the name of the newsgroup.
